BA in Political Studies BA in Public Administration

The Department of Political Studies and Public Administration (PSPA) offers two major programs: one leading to the degree of Bachelor of Arts in Political Studies and one leading to the degree of Bachelor of Arts in Public Administration. Students wishing to transfer to PSPA must secure and maintain the approval of the department and must satisfy the conditions detailed below. Acceptance to the department is subject to the availability of places.¹

Mission Statements

The mission of the BA program in Political Studies at AUB is to provide students with an understanding of the political ideas, institutions and processes that inform, shape, and regulate domestic and international politics. The core curriculum is designed to engage students in the critical analysis and assessment of the political world, and help them acquire the intellectual, practical and moral skills that are necessary for their development as future academics, civil servants, and responsible citizens. The program is committed to serving the university's liberal arts model of higher education, and provides students with the intellectual means to understand and reflect on major political issues that define their individual and communal life.

The mission of the BA program in Public Administration is to educate students, and help them develop knowledge, skills and abilities in the discipline of public administration. This includes teaching students to become innovative leaders by developing their managerial and analytic skills, thereby preparing them for professional success. The program is designed to provide students with in-depth knowledge and training geared towards the building of a generalist, academic, professional, and ethical background, and to enhance students' decision-making, analytical and interpersonal skills. We aim to increase our students' understanding of the political, constitutional, legal, economic, social, cultural, and organizational environments within which they will work.

This course also closely examines the application of these concepts, frameworks, and criteria in selected countries. Every term.
- PSPA 212 Contemporary Trends in Public Administration and Management 3.0; 3 cr.
A course that deals with the contemporary transformation of the public sector and its relationship with government and society. This course evaluates managerialism in the public sector, privatization, and entrepreneurial government. Every term.
- PSPA 213 Introduction to International Politics 3.0; 3 cr.
A survey of the basic forces and factors determining relations among states, with special emphasis on the international system, foreign policy, national power, the restraints on determinants of state action, contemporary problems and major issues faced by states, and the patterns of interaction that prevail among states. Every term.
- PSPA 214 Early and Mediaeval Islamic Thought 3.0; 3 cr.
The course is an introduction to early and classical Islamic political thought. It focuses on the history, origins, developments and objectives of Islamic political history, theology, jurisprudence and politics as they relate to the state, society, and relations with non-Muslims. The course analyzes the essential concepts and events that make the political core doctrines of Islam: a political system, a political theology and ideology, and a theory of international relations. Comparisons and contrasts between different Islamic schools are to be explored. Occasionally.
- PSPA 215 Modern Islamic Thought 3.0; 3 cr.
The course is a survey that focuses on major political and ideological issues in the modern world of Islam and deals analytically with the major doctrines, movements, and trends that have been developed during the 19th and 20th centuries. The course starts with the discussion of the ideological and political doctrines of Islamic reformers, then moves to discuss the rise of Islamic movements and their ideologies. Issues like Islamic government, state, religion, revolution, nationalism, and relations with the West are to be discussed. Annually.

PSPA 216 Western Political Thought from Antiquity to the Renaissance 3.0; 3 cr.

A survey of the main Western traditions, philosophies, and themes in political thought from Greek Antiquity to the Renaissance. The course will combine an in-depth analysis of the main philosophical concepts of the past that are still relevant to contemporary political thought and politics, with a historical analysis of the intellectual, social, and political context in which they emerged and for which they were constructed. Special focus will be given to the Greek polis and the emergence of a discourse on democracy, the relationship between politics and ethics, the search for good government and the just society, and the shift to early Realism in the context of the emergence of the modern state in Europe. Occasionally.

PSPA 217 Modern and Postmodern Western Political Thought
3.0; 3 cr.

A survey of the main Western traditions, philosophies, and themes in political thought from early European Modernity and the Enlightenment to the contemporary era, including Postmodern philosophies. The course will combine an in-depth analysis of the modern and postmodern paradigms in political philosophy, with a historical analysis of the intellectual, social and political context that led to the critique of the modern nation-state, nationalism, and democracy, and the search for new normative orders. Annually.

PSPA 218 Social Theories 3.0; 3 cr.

A survey of the main social theories that have contributed to an empirical understanding of the political at different levels of analysis and from different conceptual frameworks. The course will emphasize an interdisciplinary approach, through a comparison of theories produced in different disciplines (political science, sociology, anthropology, political psychology, economics) that focuses on different objects of study (the state, the community, social classes, the individual). Annually.

PSPA 219 Arab Political Thought and Ideologies 3.0; 3 cr.

The aim of the course is to explore various intellectual and political debates in the modern Arab world. The course will provide an overview of the development of modern Arab political thought and will present some of the main political, intellectual, and academic debates in this domain. Topics covered in this course include Arab nationalism, Marxism and Liberalism, modernity and tradition, secularism and Islam, Orientalism and the West, and other topics. Annually.

PSPA 220 Globalization and Culture 3.0; 3 cr.

This course offers a critical exploration of the cultural dynamics of globalization and the politics of the globalization of culture. It also addresses the spread of (and reaction to) American popular culture abroad and the impact of globalization on American culture and identity. Occasionally.

PSPA 221 Theories and History of the State 3.0; 3 cr.

The aim of the course is to explore “the state” as a political construct and to provide a comparative survey of experiences of state-building in the Middle East (including Lebanon). Topics covered include the history of state formation, state-society relations, authoritarianism and democratization, the impact of globalization on the state, and related issues. Occasionally.

- PSPA 222 Democracy, Civic Engagement and Leadership 3.0; 3 cr.
The course will introduce students to the principles and processes of civic engagement and leadership within democratic and democratizing systems of governance, and will help them understand the theoretical and practical issues related to the practice of participatory democracy from a comparative perspective. The discussion of the main features of the democratic system will be complemented with an extensive review of specific cases that are relevant to understand the problems that face civic engagement and leadership in different socio-political and cultural contexts. Annually.
- PSPA 223 Constitutional Law 3.0; 3 cr.
A course that examines the constitutions and the development of constitutional mechanisms and practices in selected countries, with a focus on the Lebanese constitutional system. Constitutional mechanisms in general and institutional variables are discussed as well as their impact on public policy, democracy, and political stability. Every term.
- PSPA 225 Public International Law I 3.0; 3 cr.
A course introducing the basics of public international law, including its origins, purpose, sources, subjects, and response to international wrongful acts. It explores case studies to illustrate key points. The aim of this course is to build students' understanding of the modern international legal order and its most important principles, and to contextualize its relationship with international politics. Annually.
- PSPA 226 Public International Law II 3.0; 3 cr.
A course that, building upon PSPA 225's introduction, deals in more depth with some of the most important fields of public international law such as diplomatic relations, the law of the sea, the regulation of the use of force, international humanitarian law, human rights, international justice or the development of international criminal law. This course makes extensive use of recent case studies and entails an important research component as it deals with some of the most significant developments and debates in contemporary international law. Prerequisite: PSPA 225. Occasionally.
- PSPA 228 International Security 3.0; 3 cr.
A course analyzing major issues in international security, including arms control, disarmament, terrorism and environmental degradation in both theory and practice. It covers both traditional and non-traditional security perspectives. Occasionally.
- PSPA 229 Water Politics and Policy 3.0; 3 cr.
Water is the key to life, and yet it is a resource that is exploited unevenly across and within states. This course examines key issues of water conflict, cooperation, security and development in both international and domestic spheres. Occasionally.
- PSPA 231 Palestinian and Israeli Politics 3.0; 3 cr.
A survey of Palestinian and Israeli politics—political systems, institutions, parties, and processes of governance—in the historical context of the partition of Palestine, the proclamation of the state of Israel, and the establishment of the Palestinian Authority. The course will cover contemporary issues pertaining to the functioning of both systems, to their relationship at the political, economic, (para)military, and territorial levels, as well as the impact of local, regional, and international negotiations on the future political and legal development of the region. Occasionally.

PSPA 232 Conflict and Conflict Regulation 3.0; 3 cr.
 A course that contextualizes and explores domestic, regional, and international conflicts as well as the mechanisms for their management or resolution. It focuses on such issues as the linkages between internal and external sources of conflict, the contested nature of conflict resolution concepts, peacemaking, and peace-building. Every term.

PSPA 233 International and Regional Organizations 3.0; 3 cr.
 This course explores the theories, institutional structures, political processes, role and impact of international and regional organizations within the larger context of world politics. Every term.

PSPA 234 Transnational Politics 3.0; 3 cr.
 This course explores issues of global governance beyond the traditional intergovernmental framework. It focuses on the increasingly visible role of non-state actors (social movements, NGOs, global media, transnational corporations) and transnational politics in shaping contemporary global politics. The course investigates whether the process of contemporary globalization has given rise to global civil society. Annually.

PSPA 235 Human Rights and International Politics 3.0; 3 cr.
 A course that examines the development and relevance of institutions and instruments concerned with human rights, and then considers problems of human rights issues in selected countries and their impact on regional and global actors. Every term.

PSPA 236 The Arab-Israeli Conflict 3.0; 3 cr.
 A survey of the conflict over Palestine since the 19th century up to the contemporary period. This course focuses on the origins and evolution of the Arab-Israeli conflict both in its regional and international dimensions, covering topics such as the colonial roots, the formation of the state of Israel, the PLO, the 1967 war up to the second Intifada. Every term.

PSPA 237 The Modern Middle East in International Politics 3.0; 3 cr.
 This course examines the place of the “Middle Eastern” system of states in the international system and in relation to US foreign policy towards the region. It covers the legacies of Western colonialism, Arab nationalism, the Cold War and the continuing intervention of external powers (especially the US), the geopolitics of oil, and the rising influence of Islamist movements and non-state actors. Annually.

PSPA 238 International Political Economy:
 From Imperialism to Globalization 3.0; 3 cr.
 This course examines the development of the modern world economic system through an analysis of its main characteristics and an overview of the theories relevant to its understanding. Issues covered in this course include imperialism, colonialism, the international market, globalization, the influences of the world economic system on states and the North-South divide. Annually.

PSPA 239 International Environmental Politics 3.0; 3 cr.

This course serves as an introduction to the field of international environmental politics, exploring the relationship between global political forces and environmental change. A central goal is to critically analyze how environmental problems are framed and solutions found. The course examines the rise of environmentalism in both the North and the South; the emergence of liberal and radical environmental discourse; and the formulation, negotiation and implementation of international environmental regimes and sustainable development policies. Relevant case studies include the international trade in hazardous waste and endangered species; the politics of whaling, ecotourism, GMOs, and climate change; the management of biodiversity, fisheries, ocean and forest regimes; and the relationship between environment and security. Annually.

PSPA 250 Politics of Emerging Countries 3.0; 3 cr.

A survey of politics in key emerging economies such as the BRIC states (Brazil, Russia, India, and China) and others including South Africa and Mexico. The course examines the role of these emerging economies in world politics and their policy-making structures. Annually.

PSPA 251 Politics and Government: United States of America 3.0; 3 cr.

 This is an introductory course to policy analysis. Students should be familiar with the basic concepts and terminology of public policy and public administration. This course provides students with both essential and more advanced methods used in public policy analysis. It covers important components of the process of policy analysis such as identifying data sources and weighing the utility of data; establishing criteria for analyzing policies; assessing policy alternatives; choosing among policies; monitoring policy implementation; and evaluating policies. Prerequisite: PSPA 276 Annually.

PSPA 261 Applied Research Methods in Public Policy 3.0; 3 cr.
 This course covers the fundamentals of research design in the social sciences in general. It introduces students to the several quantitative methods utilized in the field of public policy in addition to the use of computer resources in policy analysis. Students are assumed to have prior basic knowledge of the scientific methodologies. Prerequisite: PSPA 276 Annually.

PSPA 262 Political and Agency Management 3.0; 3 cr.
Aspects of Public Policy
 The purpose of this course is to introduce students to the different organizational and political factors that are involved in the policy making process. This course is interdisciplinary in nature. It draws upon different theoretical frameworks and empirical scholarly works from several disciplines, and includes case studies. The course focuses on organizational, communicative, and controlling techniques and relevant core competencies for the analysis and solution of problems. Prerequisite: PSPA 276 Annually.

PSPA 263 Public Policy and the Legal Framework 3.0; 3 cr.
 This course introduces students to the legal framework of policy formulation and policy implementation. The students will become familiar with legal materials related to the different aspects of the public policy making process. In addition, the course focuses on the relationships among the lawmaking agencies on the one hand and their relation to the policy-making entities. Specific case studies are included to explore these relationships. Prerequisite: PSPA 276 Annually.

PSPA 264 Public Policy and Activism 3.0; 3 cr.
 This course focuses on the role of activists in bringing about policy change and the impact of the different types of activism on public policy. This course provides a realistic brief introduction to how public policy is made. It examines how people (voters, activists, elites, lobbyists, politicians, bureaucrats, and judges), organizations (interest groups, firms, unions, foundations, think tanks, political parties, and the media) and political institutions (Congress, the presidency, the bureaucracy, and the judiciary) interact to create and implement public policy. It further explores how one specific group made out of activists whether employed outside or inside the public sector, can shape policy agendas and influence decisions. Students will not only gain exposure to the theory and literature on policy formulation and the actors involved but also on the politics of policymaking. It covers policy activism and policy advocacy initiatives at local, regional, national, and international scales. It analyzes the relationship between selected social/political movements, advocacy groups and different forms of activism, that are considered legitimate actors, and the policy process and outcome.

PSPA 270 State Institutions and Civic Activism: Organization and Mobilization 3.0; 3 cr.

This course is focused on examining the nexus of relationships and trajectories of influence between collective action groups and state institutions. The course analyzes various forms of collective action and the role of state institutions in shaping different modes of mobilization. The course focuses on enabling students to think critically about strategies and approaches to social movements and political protest by incorporating an understanding of state structures and power dynamics. The course uses experiential learning methods and interdisciplinary theories to help students reflect on real-life case studies inspired from the context of the Middle East and North Africa region.

PSPA 272 The Non-Profit Sector: Formation, Leadership and Governance 3.0; 3 cr.

This course focuses on the economic, social, and legal foundations of the nonprofit sector. The ways in which nonprofit organizations relate to the public and private sectors and the diversity and scope of the nonprofit sector are examined with primary focus on the functions performed by nonprofit organizations and on various patterns of community actions taken in different societies. Annually.

PSPA 273 Human Resources and Personnel Administration 3.0; 3 cr.

A course that examines theories, practice, and problems relating to human resources and personnel administration. This course focuses on key aspects of human resources, planning, and their implications on public policy. Annually.

PSPA 274 Public Administration and Non-State Actors 3.0; 3 cr.

This course explores the various ways in which non-state actors engage with the state. It focuses on the internal dynamics of local relationships between the government and non state actors and offers insights into the interactions between them. It will review the opportunities and constraints of different types of non-state actors (e.g NGOs, trade unions, employer groups, multinational corporations, think tanks; regulatory bodies; rating agencies) within different levels of governance and organizations.

PSPA 275 Organization and Management 3.0; 3 cr.

A survey of the concepts, principles, and techniques of organization and management with special emphasis on questions of applicability. In this course students will develop attitudes and acquire skills that should enable them to administer organizations effectively and efficiently. Students cannot receive credit for both MNGT 215 and PSPA 275. Annually.
